Polled Jury Recommends "Extreme Leniency" In Hankey Guilty Verdict

M. Lloyd Hankey, S. Washington St., grocer, was given a suspended sentence and ordered to pay $100 for the use of the county and the costs on a charge of involuntary manslaughter and assault and battery by auto in the Adams County Court this morning.

In imposing sentence Judge W. C. Sheely said: "The court agrees with both parts of the verdict presented by the jury. You were technically guilty and this is a case for extreme leniency. The court commends you for the way in which you have conducted yourself and have been perfectly honest throughout this case."

An Adams County jury, at least one of them most reluctantly, Friday afternoon found M. Lloyd Hankey, 36-year-old S. Washington St. grocer, guilty of involuntary manslaughter and assault and battery by auto after two and hours deliberation.

He is scheduled to be sentenced late this morning.

The jury retired to consider its verdict at 1:45 o'clock Friday afternoon and returned with its decision at 4:15.

Charles E. Alwine, New Oxford manufacturer, handed up the decision stating "Guilty as charged with extreme leniency recommended." The jury had heavily underlined the word "extreme" in writing down its verdict.

Asks Jury Poll

Hankey's attorney, Eugene R. Hartman, asked that the jury be polled, a proceeding seldom used in Adams County, but a defendant's prerogative if he wishes, when found guilty.

Clerk of the Courts Kenneth Johns secured the jury list and prepared to call each of the jurors individually, to have each stand and vocally announce his verdict.

The first man polled, Jerre Spence, Gettysburg R. 2, answered, "Guilty, I suppose, according to the rest." Judge W. C. Sheely intervened to ask what Spence meant. The Highland Twp. farmer responded, "I voted not guilty." For a few moments it appeared that the jury might have to retire and consider the case again, or be listed as a hung jury. Then began a series of questions posed by the judge and answered by Spence which was rendered more difficult because Spence could not hear the judge too distinctly. Finally Spence said he voted with the rest in favor of a guilty verdict on the last ballot taken by the jury.

Favor "Extreme Leniency"

Then each of the other jurors was asked to give his personal verdict. From expressions on faces it appeared that some found it most difficult to say "guilty" but they finally managed it. Several spoke up strongly on the "extreme leniency" part of the verdict.

POLICE REPORT MINOR DAMAGES IN 2 ACCIDENTS

Two accidents occurred within an hour Friday afternoon and each was three miles from Gettysburg, one on the Lincoln Highway and one on the Emmitsburg Rd., State Police reported this morning.

Louis J. Marsh, 72, Rochester, N. Y., suffered a bruised forehead and the driver of the car in which he was a passenger, Lester Ernstone, 68, also of Rochester, escaped without injury when the Ernstone auto struck a utility pole three miles south of here on the Emmitsburg Rd. at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon.

State police said Joan Burner, 23, Minersville, was headed north near the guide station when an unknown auto, coming out of the station, forced Miss Burner's car into the path of the south-bound Ernstone vehicle.

Strikes Pole

The two collided and then the Ernstone sedan continued on, striking the pole. Damage to the Burner car was estimated at $20 while damage to the Rochester vehicle was $100.

MISS DRACHA

Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Dracha, 257 E. Middle St., announce the engagement of their daughter, Dolores Jane, to William James Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde E. Williams, 35 Hanover St.

Miss Dracha, who was graduated from the Gettysburg High School, is employed as secretary to Dr. William O. Duck, guidance counselor at Gettysburg College, and Dean Robert H. Frying, of the college.

Mr. Williams, a graduate of Gettysburg High School, is a student at Shepherd College, Shepherdstown, W. Va., where he is majoring in physical education. He is a member of Zeta Sigma Fraternity. An early summer wedding is planned.

KANE-WEISHAAR NUPTIALS HELD THIS MORNING

Miss Barbara Ann Weishaar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn S. Weishaar, Red Patch Ave., became the bride of Larry Joseph Kane, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Kane, Biglerville R. 2, at a 9 o'clock nuptial mass this morning in St. Francis Xavier Catholic Church. The pastor, Rev. Fr. Anthony F. Kane, officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Mixed fall flowers decorated the altar. Mrs. George F. Eberhart, organist, played wedding music from Carlo Rossini's collection.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a street-length dress of off-white brocade satin topped with a matching jacket designed with a Mandarin collar with three-quarter length sleeves. It was closed with rhinestone buttons from neck to waist. The dress was made with a full skirt and embroidered with jewels at the bodice. Her off-white gloves were designed with seed pearls and she wore a wreath of flowers and ivy. The bridal bouquet was a nosegay of white roses, mums and ivy. The bride wore white satin slippers.

Junior Red Cross Meets On Monday

The Junior Red Cross Council of Adams County, made up of student representatives of all of the high schools in the county, will hold a meeting Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Gettysburg High School building. Miss Kitty Wensch, the president, will preside.

Walter Young, formerly of Hawaii, now a Gettysburg College student, will be the speaker.

At a business session, the council will consider its projects for the current school year in connection with work for veterans' hospitals and military installations.

Mrs. Ruth Wise, is the Junior Red Cross director for the county chapter.

Two Women Hurt In Hanover Crash

Two women were injured when cars in which they were passengers collided at the intersection of Highway and Frederick Sts., Hanover, Thursday at 12:30 a.m.

Police said Mrs. Ruth Zartman, Hanover, was displaced at Hanover hospital for a dislocated shoulder and Mrs. Freda Hankey, New Oxford R. 1, was x-rayed for chest injuries. Both were discharged.

Investigating officers said Mrs. Zartman was a passenger in a car operated by Allen G. Weaver, Hanover, while Mrs. Hankey was in a car driven by Frederick D. Lechrone, Spring Grove R. 1. Damage to the Weaver car was estimated at $400 and to the Lechrone vehicle at $250.

Seek $3,085 For Chest Fund Next Week In Drive For Goal

Next week is "Clean Up Week" for the Gettysburg Community Chest Campaign. The Chest Fund today stands at $13,914.61 which is $3,085.39 short of its goal.

We are appealing to residents of Gettysburg and the immediate rural vicinity to donate to the drive so that we can reach our minimum goal of $17,000," Campaign Chairman John MacPhail said today. "There are 1,317 individuals in Gettysburg who have contributed to the Community Chest this year but there are nearly 300 others who gave last year who have not yet sent in their pledge or cash donation this fall."

Have No Reserve Funds

"We hope those 300 and others who have not yet given their help to the Chest Fund drive will do so during Clean Up Week. We believe there are some who have contributed who will be able to give an additional sum."

MacPhail pointed out that, by giving to the Chest Drive, local folk help all six member organizations—the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, the Recreation Association, the Adams County Free Library, the Civic Nurse Association and the YWCA. Before the Chest was organized, each of these organizations conducted its own drive.

There is no reserve fund from other years. If the Chest Fund falls short of its goal, it can only mean a cut in financial support to the member organizations—and each budget was "cut to the bone" before the $17,000 goal was set, drive leaders asserted.

Most Severe Test For Chest

"This is the most severe test the Community Chest has had in Gettysburg," MacPhail continued. "If the Chest goal is not attained this year, the whole Chest plan in Gettysburg may be endangered—and I feel sure that no one wants to return to the days of separate fund drives for each member organization."

"People of Gettysburg have the opportunity to give one time for six and, if that fact is kept in mind when the size of the donation is decided upon, the Chest drive will go over the top."

Chest officials said that donations may be mailed to Community Chest, Gettysburg, Pa., or may be turned in at the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce office, either of the local banks or at the Hotel Gettysburg.

Express Appreciation

A special appeal is being made to residents who were missed by the house-to-house solicitors to bring or send a contribution to the Chest. A total of $4,734 already has been received from residential solicitation but that is short of the sum from the same division of the drive last year.

"We appreciate all the help that has been given the campaign by the solicitors and those who have contributed to date to the campaign," Chairman MacPhail said. "The progress already made this year and the record made here in other years by the Community Chest attest to the fact that the Community Chest plan has real backing and support. "The real test is whether we can reach the $17,000 goal by the December 4 deadline."

Jr. Rifle Match Sunday Afternoon

The second Junior Rifle match sponsored by the Gettysburg Sportsmen's Association, and the last until next spring, will be held Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the gun club along Wainright Ave.

The match is open to boys and girls between the ages of 12 and 17 years and a special invitation has been issued to girls, who failed to appear for the initial match earlier in the month.

Each contestant will fire 10 shots standing and 10 kneeling. There will be medals donated by the Gettysburg News and Sporting Goods store for the three contestants with the top scores.

Registration will close at 2:30 p.m.

Burglary Trial Ends Suddenly

The burglary and larceny trial of Milton Ray Woodward and Walter Richard Clapper, both of Hanover, came to a sudden end this morning in Adams County court when the Commonwealth had completed its case.

Judge W. C. Sheely told the jury, following a side-bar conference with attorneys, that the court sustained the contention of defense attorney, Donald G. Oyler, that there was insufficient evidence produced by the Commonwealth against Woodward and Clapper to prove a burglary and larceny charge.

DIVORCE GRANTED

Proclaiming His Innocence, Hiss Is Released From Prison Today

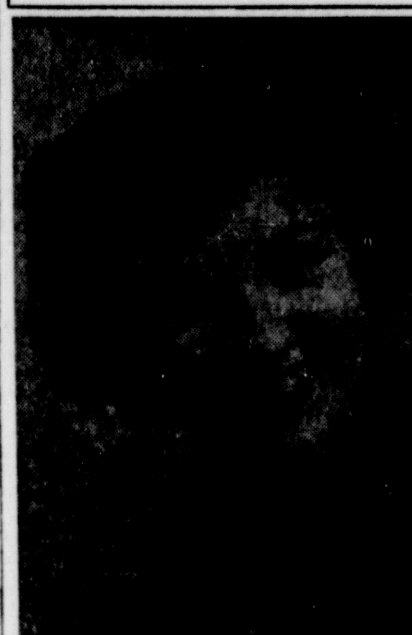

By LEONARD UNGER
LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Alger Hiss, convicted of lying when he denied giving government secrets to a Communist spy ring, was released from federal prison today.

Hiss was met by his wife, Priscilla; his 13-year-old son, Tony; and two attorney friends, Chester Lane and Robert M. Benjamin. As he walked through the door of the prison, the former prisoner No. 19137 was surrounded by nearly 100 reporters and photographers.

The drone of a helicopter over head almost drowned out Hiss' words as he shouted: "I'm very glad to be out but I want to reassert my complete innocence."

He said that in his years in jail (Continued on Page 4)

MISS WEAVER

Mr. and Mrs. George P. Weaver, R. 4, announce the engagement of their daughter, Lucille, to Clifford E. Chapman, son of Dr. and Mrs. Raymond Moore Barlow.

Miss Weaver is a graduate of Biglerville High School. Her fiancé, who attended Gettysburg High School, is a navy corpsman attached to the U. S. Marine Corps. He is stationed at Camp Lejeune, N. C., as a hospitalman third class.

An early summer wedding is planned.

JURY ACQUITS HANOVER GIRL IN CAR CRASH

Darlene Overbaugh, 19-year-old Hanover resident, Friday afternoon was found innocent of charges of involuntary manslaughter and assault and battery by auto brought following a fatal accident in New Oxford June 29.

The jury debated for 45 minutes before returning its verdict which also provided that Miss Overbaugh pay the $68.05 costs in the case.

Miss Overbaugh told the jury during the trial that she did not see a stop sign in New Oxford immediately preceding the crash nor did she see the Lincoln Highway, nor did she see an approaching car on Route 30 until her car and the other vehicle had collided, after her car had crossed nearly the entire width of the street. And she told the jury that she had been particularly looking for the Lincoln Highway, planning to turn left on it when she came upon it off Water St. in New Oxford.

Cousin Fatally Injured

She realized she was crossing an intersection when she came upon the Lincoln Highway, she said, but not noticing any lights or traffic, she said she assumed the highway was a "secondary street" and plunged across it at about 20 miles an hour.

A distant cousin of Miss Overbaugh, Clair Overbaugh, 63, Hanover, one-time operator of a bakery at McSherrystown, and prior to that a Gettysburg and New Oxford bakery operator, was fatally injured in the accident. There was no testimony concerning the injuries to Mr. Overbaugh.

Husband And Wife Serve On One Jury

A new chapter was added to the history of Adams County juries Friday afternoon.

For the first time in the recollection of veteran court attendants, and for what is believed to be the first time in the county's history, a man and wife sat as members of the same jury.

Reception Held

A reception for the immediate families was held at the bride's home after the wedding.

After a trip of an unannounced destination the couple will reside at the home of the bride's parents. Both newlyweds are graduates of Biglerville High School, class of 1953.

The bridegroom is employed by the Rice, Trew and Rice Company, Biglerville, while the bride works as a typist at the Mechanicsburg Naval Depot.

Hoffman Orphanage Awarded $16,697

The Hoffman Orphanage, near Littlestown, will receive $16,697.32 from the estate of Mrs. E. A. Aldinger who died October 14, 1953, in York.

Judge Harvey A. Gross, York, Friday awarded that sum to the orphanage in the first and final account of the executors. A similar amount goes to the Children's Home, York, and $170 to the Kinkona Pythian Home Association, Kinkona Heights, Pa.

Highlighting the observance will be a special service of worship at 11 a.m. and a musicale by the choir of the church depicting the church year in song at 4 p.m.

The speaker for the anniversary program on Sunday morning will be the Rev. Dr. Jacob M. Myers, professor of Hebrew and Old Testament literature and theology at the Lutheran Theological Seminary.

Warner Hospital Directors Inaugurate Campaign For $200,000 For Annex At Hospital; "Urgently Needed"

600 PATIENTS AT HOSPITAL IN 2 MONTHS

Although discussion of the new building program pushed routine business into the background at the Warner Hospital directors' meeting Friday evening, the reports for September and October proved of interest.

More than 600 patients were admitted in the two months. Daily occupancy averaged 70 patients and 134 babies were born in the 60-day period.

It costs well over $60,000 to operate the hospital in the period and cash income almost equalled expenditures with the result that operating funds at the end of October held at $6,767.70.

Earned income for the period was a trifle over $27,000 each month including payment of state appropriations of $2,200. Expenses exceeded earned income, including state appropriations, by nearly $2,000 after deduction of $3,000 worth of charity service.

Collect Some Bills

The cash position of the hospital was maintained however by recovery of nearly $1,500 of unpaid accounts from previous months.

Administrator Walter B. Dillon reported the replacement of the incinerator and of an analytical balance in the laboratory. He reported other repairs and improvements in the hospital and announced that the Women's auxiliary of the hospital is securing new curtains for the rooms in the Musselman annex.

President R. W. Livingston, New Oxford, presided over the meeting which was attended by the following directors: John Hauser, Biglerville; C. P. Keefer, New Oxford; Carl Baum, Henry M. Scharf, Clark Smith, Dr. Frank H. Kramer, Philip M. Jones, Robert E. Berkeheimer, Edmund W. Thomas and Leo McDermitt, all of Gettysburg.

Departments Need Space

The X-ray department has expanded at such a rate as to overrun dressing room, toilet, file and office space. The diagnostic work is done at one end of the building and deep-therapy has had to be located in the basement at the other end of the building.

Nursery facilities must be expanded and new facilities must be added to the hospital to meet many new procedures in medical technique that are in the offing.

COUNTY COUPLE WEDS FRIDAY IN BENDERSVILLE

Miss Joan Louise Wright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Wright Jr., Bendersville, and Harvey Paul Cluck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cluck, Aspers, were married Friday evening at 7 o'clock in the Bethlehem Lutheran Church, Bendersville, by candlelight service. The Rev. Dr. O. D. Coble, pastor, performed the double ring ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Tuckey, Gardners, were the only attendants.

Miss Wright wore a bride's blue street-length dress with two-tone brown accessories and carried a white Bible and an orchid. Her attendant, Mrs. Tuckey, wore a rust-colored street length dress with gray accessories and carried a colonial bouquet of yellow rosebuds and pom-poms.

Reception Held

A reception for the immediate families was held at the bride's home after the wedding.

After a trip of an unannounced destination the couple will reside at the home of the bride's parents. Both newlyweds are graduates of Biglerville High School, class of 1953.

Following months of study with the chiefs of the various services of the medical staff and with engineering consultants, directors of the Annie M. Warner hospital, at their regular November meeting Friday evening, voted unanimously to inaugurate a program to meet the future needs of the hospital. The program is tentatively based on securing $400,000 to $500,000 to finance the overall program.

The resolution provided that the first step of the overall program be limited to $200,000 and "that this first and most important step be the building and equipping of additional space to house modern wards and as many private rooms as possible so as to eventually remove all patients from the old hospital building."

The plan adopted provides that "the old building would then be fitted to provide additional surgery, dispensary, X-ray, office and storage areas and waiting rooms as soon as possible."

Old Building "Obsolete"

The resolution that was adopted was the recommendation of the New Building committee. The action took place after the chiefs of the various services of the medical staff explained in detail the needs of the hospital. The urgency of the hospital needs centers around the fact that the old building is obsolete for the housing of patients and the general overcrowding that prevails in all departments.

The medical staff chiefs "proved conclusively" that the hospital has outgrown its single dispensary, its X-ray department, its laboratory and that many other facilities of the hospital are no longer adequate and "cannot lend themselves to the developments that are being made in medical science and hospital service," board members said.

The two toilet 16-bed wards, with but one toilet facility each, are hopelessly obsolete compared to the modern four-bed ward rooms, with private bath and with glass semi-partitions that permit classification of cases and effective medical control, it was pointed out.

Nursery facilities must be expanded and new facilities must be added to the hospital to meet many new procedures in medical technique that are in the offing.

WILLIAM METZ SENTENCED TO PENITENTIARY

William Junior Metz, Waynesboro R. 4, was sentenced to one and one-half to three years in the Allegheny workhouse by the Adams County Court this morning. Metz had been found guilty on a morals charge.

The court directed that the sentence should begin as of October 28, the date on which he was placed in the local jail. He was ordered to pay the costs.

Metz told the court that he was innocent of the charge and that had he been guilty he would have pleaded such. The court said that under the testimony it felt that at least an attempt had been made and thus Metz was guilty.

The court postponed until January 3 sentencing of Carl DiNunzio, Boyertown, on a charge of indecent assault and battery on which he had been found guilty this week. The postponement was made when attorneys for DiNunzio reported that a physician, who was to have given information concerning a condition of Mrs. DiNunzio, could not appear and they felt the court should have such information before imposing sentence.

CASEHORES ARE WED 25 YEARS

Justice of the Peace and Mrs. John H. Basehore, 68 E. Middle St., who are observing their 25th wedding anniversary today, are weekenders in Philadelphia. They were accompanied by friends from Gettysburg. Today they will see the Army-Navy game.

Mrs. Basehore is the former Miss Anna Wible, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. David R. Wible of Rose Hill Farm near Gettysburg. Mr. Basehore is a son of Mrs. Luther Basehore and the late Luther Basehore of Seven Stars.

The couple was married November 27, 1929, in St. James Lutheran Church by the pastor, Rev. Earl J. Bowman. They were the first couple to be married in the remodeled church razed by fire in October, 1928. Mr. and Mrs. Ross A. Pennington of Benton were the attendants.

After spending several years as a salesman and in the real estate business, Mr. Basehore launched an insurance business. His office is presently located at 29 Lincoln Square. He is a justice of the peace, treasurer of Gettysburg borough and state inheritance tax appraiser. He is also chairman of the Republican party of Adams County.

They have a son, John W. Basehore, a student at Gettysburg College.

Two-Church Series To Close On Sunday

The last in the current series of Sunday Evening Family Fellowship programs being conducted jointly by the local Methodist and Presbyterian Churches will be held Sunday evening at the Presbyterian Church.

After group singing and family lunches at 5:15 p.m. there will be a recreation period and then six discussion groups ranging from nursery and kindergarten ages to adults will meet for an hour. There will be a closing 15-minute worship service in the church at 7 o'clock.

Dr. Jacob W. Heikkinen of the Gettysburg Lutheran Theological Seminary will be the discussion leader for the adult group. "Questions Concerning Our Christian Faith" has been the general topic for the series. Sunday's special subject will be the second coming of Christ.

Funeral Services Held For Dr. Cline

Burial services for Dr. Thomas L. Cline, for many years head of the English Department of Gettysburg College and in recent years executive secretary of the Board of Pensions of the United Lutheran Church in America, who was found dead at his apartment in Philadelphia Monday, were held at Culpeper, Va., Friday.

A largely-attended memorial service for Dr. Cline was held in Philadelphia Wednesday afternoon. The burial service was held on Friday.

Dr. Franklin Clarke Fry, president of the United Lutheran Church in America, and Rev. Robert C. Horne, pastor of the Trinity Lutheran Church, Philadelphia, officiated at the memorial services in Philadelphia. Regular services were held at 11 a.m. Friday at the Clure Funeral Home, Culpeper, Va.

Phi Gamma Delta Fraternity, of which Dr. Cline had been Purple Legionnaire, faculty advisor and president of the board of trustee, conducted graveside rites. Those alumni from Gettysburg participating were Charles H. Huber Jr., John S. Rice, Robert H. Deardorff, Henry T. Bream, Samuel M. Raffensperger and M. P. Hartzell Jr.

Santa Arrives At Murphy's On Friday

Santa Claus arrived Friday night with the assistance of the Gettysburg Fire Department.

The elderly elf was spotted atop the roof of the G. C. Murphy Co. building on Baltimore St. and the firemen ran their hook-and-ladder truck alongside the building. Fire Chief Donald Jacobs and Second Assistant Fire Chief Donald Staub clambered up the ladder to help the visitor.

Santa seemed reluctant to go down the ladder. He released some balloons and waved to the crowd of kiddies repeatedly. But finally the firemen persuaded him to come down. He worked his way through a mob of youthful admirers and entered the Murphy store.

After about an hour, he announced that he had to return to the North Pole, but promised to try to return again within the next week or two, to find out what the boys and girls of Gettysburg want for Christmas.

POPE SUFFERS MORE ATTACKS

VATICAN CITY (U. S. —) Reliable Vatican sources said today Pope Pius XII has suffered a recurrence of the hiccup attacks that afflicted him last winter. The pontiff reportedly also has been vomiting.

The 78-year-old head of the Roman Catholic Church has been suffering from a serious gastric ailment some time. Last January, the stomach disorder, complicated by hiccups, so weakened him that he had to be fed intravenously.

The sources said the Pope's physicians had warned him recently that his strenuous schedule of audiences, appearances and church duties on which he has insisted would cause trouble.

FIRE GUTS ARMY DEPOT IN KOREA

PUSAN, Korea (U. S. —) Investigators set out today to find the cause of a fire that raged for seven hours through the Army's biggest quartermaster depot in Korea, gutted three-fourths of the sprawling installation and burned 20 homes.

There was no immediate estimate of damage from the fire, which Army sources called the most disastrous military blaze in Pusan's history.

The fire, now well under control, broke out last night in the 56th Quartermaster Depot.

The Army said a preliminary check showed 12 to 15 large warehouses, a barracks, mess hall, numerous smaller buildings and many stacks of equipment stored outside of buildings were destroyed within the compound.

POLICE REPORT

hicle was listed as $200. Inability of a truck to halt quickly enough led to the other crash, at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon three miles west of here on the Lincoln Highway.

Police said George L. Evans, 32, Chambersburg R. 6, had halted for an auto ahead of him which was engaged in making a left turn. Carl R. Smith, 38, Harrisburg, driving a truck, was unable to stop quickly enough and struck the rear of the Evans sedan. Damage to the truck was estimated at $35 and damages to the car were listed at $125. Mary Lou Evans, 22, Chambersburg R. 6, was removed to the Warner Hospital but was found to be uninjured.

The service is open to the public.

Hospital Directors

Livingston said:

"The Warner Hospital can and will continue to render first class hospital service even in the face of present crowded conditions. However, we must look into the future and not a single day can be lost in preparing to meet the future requirements of the hospital. The old building is obsolete as a patient facility but it can be refitted to excellently take care of surgery, X-ray, dispensary, laboratory, office, reception and waiting rooms after we have built new and modern facilities for the 52 patients now housed in the old building.

Debt Of Gratitude
"We owe a great debt of gratitude to the medical and hospital staff for the tremendous job they have done and will continue to do but we must give them the facilities to provide the standard of hospital and medical care that will be demanded in the future.

"I don't know how long it will take to raise the money that is required but we are starting as of this minute and we will push the various phases of this overall program through as fast as the funds are available."

Former president John Hauser, who is serving as chairman of the new building committee, told the directors:

"Can Be No Delay"

"Our committee has studied the recommendations of the medical staff. We have spent many hours with engineering consultants. We have studied the current volume of need for hospital service. We have studied future requirements. We have no choice but to recommend immediate adoption of an overall program that will serve the health needs of Adams County. We have no choice but to recommend that the first and most important phase—erecting and equipping a new building to house modern wards and as many private rooms as possible, leading to the eventual removal of all patients from the old building, be gotten under way as soon as at least $200,000 is on hand. We have no choice but to recommend that thereafter the old building be fitted to provide the addition surgery and out-patient facilities that are required.

"This is the objective we must set for the hospital and there can be no delay. This long-range program must be put into action immediately."

Local Men Serve On Fleet Maneuver

KANE-WEISHAAR

the bride's, white gloves, a floral wreath and carried a nosegay of matching flowers.

Edward Kane, Biglerville R. D., brother of the groom, served as best man. Glenn Weishaar Jr., Gettysburg, brother of the bride, and Kermit Kane, Biglerville R. 2, brother of the groom, served as ushers.

The bride's mother wore a beige Jersey dress trimmed with leopard fur, brown accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. The mother of the groom wore a winter white Jersey dress, black accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Reception Held

The bridal party was served breakfast at the bride's home. A reception will be held at her home at 8 o'clock this evening. Afterwards the couple will leave on a honeymoon of unannounced destination. The bride will wear as her going-away ensemble a rose-wool suit, navy accessories and a corsage of white roses. Upon their return they will live temporarily at the bride's home.

Mrs. Kane, who was graduated from Gettysburg High School in June, has been studying nursing at St. Agnes Hospital School of Nursing, Baltimore. Her husband, who was graduated in the same class, is employed by Lamont Kane Fruit Farming, Orrtanna R. D.

Out-of-town guests were from Lemoyne, Harrisburg, Baltimore, Hagerstown, Chambersburg, Wrightsville, Enola, Shippensburg and York.

Will Your Family Give

ONE OR MORE DOLLARS?

In the history of the Gettysburg Community Chest, there has never been an emergency as urgent as this. We dare not be $3,085.00 SHORT. The contingency fund for this emergency was exhausted last year. But there is something we can do about it. There are 2,447 homes in Gettysburg and the adjacent rural area. If YOUR Family AND every other family will mail or deliver AT LEAST ONE MORE DOLLAR, we can reach our goal.

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the

The Gettysburg Times
TEN YEARS AGO

Many Reports Of Wild Beasts "On The Loose": A good sized menagerie could be assembled if all of the wild animals reported running loose in this section of the country were captured—but local authorities said today that all of the rumors so far are "still a lot of hokum."

Stories from the lower end of the county this morning were that some kind of a large beast was running loose through the Mount Joy township section.

The rumors began a week ago when a black panther supposedly had escaped from a circus train at Westminster and started a series of attacks on both cattle and humans in Carroll County.

The panther was finally worked into a wildcat and the stories of its exploits moved into the Union Mills section. This morning the reports of the animal came from Mount Joy Township.

Maryland State Game Warden E. Lee LeCompte said Tuesday that the attacker and destroyer of cattle in Carroll County is probably a pack of wild dogs. While discounting the panther tale, Maryland State Police said there was foundation for reports of destruction by a wild animal.

Paul Schwartz New President Of Bank Unit: Paul M. Schwartz, formerly of Gettysburg and now cashier of the People's State Bank of East Berlin, was presented as the new president of the Adams County Bankers Association at the group's annual banquet meeting at the Hotel Gettysburg Thursday evening. Other new officers elected at a brief business session included: Vice president, Theodore W. Spangler, assistant cashier and treasurer of the Littlestown National Bank; secretary, Mrs. Dorothy Roomsberg of the People's State Bank at East Berlin and treasurer, Elmer W. Warren, trust officer of the First National Bank of Gettysburg.

Newell Carey Prisoner Of War In Reich: Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Carey, Gettysburg R. 3, near Seven Stars, received word Saturday afternoon that their son, Pfc. Newell E. Carey, 23, is now a prisoner of the Germans.

Private Carey was serving with the 80th Division under General Patton when he was reported missing on October 2. The war department telegram Saturday said word had been received through the International Red Cross that he was a "prisoner of the German government."

Hake Property Sold To John D. Teeter: John D. Teeter, West Middle Street, purchased the Hake property on Springs Avenue Saturday afternoon at public sale for $13,000.

Pvt. Ira Sease Is Missing In Action In Italy: Pfc. Ira Doyle Sease, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Sease, Fairfield Station, has been missing in action since October 28, a war department telegram notified the parents Sunday.

Pvt. Sease was a member of an infantry outfit and had been serving with the Fifth army. He had gone into Italy last year after first going to North Africa with his outfit.

Sixth Bond Drive Opens: $2,290,000 County Goal: More than 300 volunteer men and women set about today to sell $2,290,000 worth of war bonds to Adams countyans in the Sixth War Bond drive since the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor by the Japanese.

And they hope to achieve that objective before the closing day of the drive, December 17. The goal, actually, in Adams County, is to sell $2,290,000 worth of war bonds before December 7, the third anniversary of Pearl Harbor.

$250,000 Will Be Paid Xmas Club Members: Late next week Adams County mailmen will deliver to about 3,500 countyans Christmas saving club checks from 11 county banks totaling nearly $250,000, the largest sum ever distributed to Christmas Club members in this county.

Ray M. Culp Is Wed Sunday In Church In York: Miss Phyllis M. Grandstaff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Grandstaff, York, became the bride of Ray M. Culp, son of Mr.

Today's Talk

THE DEATH OF A TREE

There is something humanly blessed about a tree that has held our affection over the years. I am thinking of a towering oak that has cast its smile, tinted by the morning sun, across the small spring-fed pool underneath. I have watched this tree grow as it has daily reached higher to embrace the sunlight. From my library window I have for many years looked out upon its strength and beauty.

But that tree now lies prone upon the earth, its career suddenly come to an end, stricken by the strange power of "Hazel." Hurricane Hazel sounds more apt. For something like a hundred years this beautiful tree has stood under all changing fortunes of the forest. Never has it wavered. I have been looking at its early autumn coloring of mild tints. Hardly had its leaves begun to fall.

The wind whistled cruelly and then there was the crash! How helpless is a tree under such circumstances! How helpless is man! It is not as though this tree had been selected and chosen to give up its life to some commercial gain. Many of its associates still stand, far older and more experienced. But this particular tree will be greatly missed. It has left an empty space. No longer will the birds know its protective arms. No longer will the grey squirrels climb its great trunk and leap from its branches to neighboring trees. They will wonder where it has gone.

Nothing in nature is so tragic as the destruction that it so often vents upon itself in the form of hurricanes, tornadoes, cyclones, and floods, to say nothing of droughts, dust storms, and other catastrophes. Can it be that we have not learned a valuable lesson from all nature, and so follow her lead to perfect means whereby we too may perish from weapons of our own creation?

Just Folks

THE DECISION

Days come and go and never ask. Are you prepared to do your task? Have you both strength and will enough

To brave the struggle when it's rough?

They leave us every one to choose

Just how the time allowed we'll use.

Keep going on or step aside.

That question each must then decide.

The morning passes; comes the noon.

Work night will surely follow soon.

And well, or idle through the day?

That's left to every one to say.

Take time for friendship or decide

To wait until the friend has died?

That letter write or let it wait

Although next week may be too late?

Pass by, or stop some one to aid?

By all, that quick decision's made.

Soldier Votes Increase GOP Margins Here: With the completion of the counting Thursday of 888 ballots cast by Adams County men and women in service, Republican candidates, with a single exception, found their civilian vote leads bolstered by the GI results.

Watchers Watch Guard Of GI Votes In Court House: It's been many a day since any election irregularities have been uncovered in Adams County—but the official watchers for the county of the soldier vote here Wednesday and Thursday weren't taking any chances.

They "suggested" that a guard be placed at the steel door of the vault in the commissioners office where the ballots were kept and when that was carried out the watchers proceeded to take turns sitting up throughout Wednesday night watching the locked vault door.

The watchers were Maurice Wareheim as a representative of the state auditor general's office and J. Harry Troxell from the state treasurer's office. Sheriff John E. Millhimes detailed Deputies Blaine Walters of Biglerville and Ralph Millhimes of New Oxford to guard the court house for the night.

COOPERATIVE MOVEMENT IN CHURCHES HAS PROGRESSED

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

BOSTON (AP)—The cooperative church movement today needs to do some important fence mending. That's the view of leaders of the National Council of Churches, which opens its biennial assembly here tomorrow.

"Much has been done," declares a preliminary report. "Much remains to be done." Although the interdenominational agency has become a vast, many-sided operation, officials said it has weak spots that should be braced up to make it more effective.

Needs Are Cited

The needs cited include:

1. Means to give the masses of denominationally secluded church members more personal contact and experience with interchurch activities so they can know firsthand the values of cooperative Christian labors.

2. Setting up of comprehensive information-gathering machinery on a national scale to show where the churches are doing their job in society and where they're failing—so tactics can be planned accordingly.

3. Increased participation by laymen—along with the clergy—in church cooperative work.

Bolstering Finances

4. Further bolstering of the council's financial resources to provide a margin for more flexible operations and a reserve to protect against temporary income slumps.

5. Bringing currently nonparticipating denominations which share faith in a divine Christ into the movement. Although not named, the principal nonmembers are the Southern Baptists, Roman Catholics and Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod.

6. Clearer channels of communication between local, state and national councils of churches and more decentralized council meetings in all geographical areas to keep direction flowing from the bottom up.

"State and local constituencies want guidance on the basis of policies and plans acceptable to all units of the council," the biennial executive report says. "They do not want patterns dictated by national staff people."

The call for giving more rank-and-file Christians personal experience in interdenominational affairs came from Dr. Roswell Barnes, the council's associate general secretary.

"One of the major tasks," he said, "is to bring more of our members into extensive ecumenical experience and... into deeper understanding of the ecumenical perspective."

Different Outlooks

He said clergymen and laymen who have taken a direct part in interchurch activities have a "quite different" outlook from the bulk of churchgoers who are acquainted only with their own church.

And difference in perspective, he said, is "deep-seated and quite difficult to deal with."

Those who have had face-to-face relationships with other churches see their own church in "the universal perspective" of Christianity, he said, while many others see their own church as a realm of values limited to itself.

He said this doesn't mean that the ecumenically experienced Christian is "less loyal" to his own church—but that he is somewhat like the overseas traveler who "gains appreciation for the culture and problems of others without thinking less of his own national heritage."

Other Testimony

Miss Aumen testified that she and Mr. Hull had eaten supper at the Old Mill Inn to the west of New Oxford, and that she had driven the car into New Oxford, headed for the square there. She said she noticed the Overbaugh car's headlights about the time it was entering the Lincoln Highway and swerved to the right. She said the Overbaugh car came across the north lane of the highway into the south lane and struck the Hull vehicle which by this time had pulled over to the south side of its own lane. The Hull car then continued on into Water St. south of the highway while the Overbaugh car went over the curb and struck the porch of Mrs. C. H. Slaybaugh, 221 Lincolnway West in New Oxford. Clair Overbaugh is believed to have been thrown from the car as it jumped the curb and he suffered the fractured skull at that time.

New Oxford

NEW OXFORD — Persons wishing to assist war victims of Europe, the Near and Far East by donating wearable winter clothing and bedding may do so throughout the coming week by taking the articles to Immaculate Conception parochial school hall where it will be packed for shipment by parish volunteers early the following week.

Each person in the parish is planning to contribute one article, and will also receive donations from others regardless of church affiliation.

Mrs. Amos D. Meyers, Hawaiian-born wife of the minister of Emory Methodist Church, spoke before the Future Homemakers of America Chapter of the Hanover Junior High School recently.

Two services, one at 10 a.m., the other 7 p.m., will mark winter Communion on the first Sunday of Advent, Sunday, at First Lutheran Church in charge of Rev. Dr. George E. Sheffer. Dr. Sheffer will baptize babies of congregation families at 2 p.m. that afternoon.

Mrs. Charles L. Eicholtz, who has been unable to be about without assistance for several years as the result of a stroke, is reported slightly improved.

A satisfactory financial result is reported by the Rosary Society of the local Catholic Church from the November 17 card party for the benefit of increased parish expenses. The women have made initial plans for another event shortly after the close of Christmas holidays.

Chief of Police Walter Bemiller, of New Oxford, who investigated, said the intersection was dark, that a street light which ordinarily lights the crossing was not illuminated at the time.

Miss Overbaugh said she had been driving for "a month and four days" at the time of the accident. She had driven her mother and father to New Oxford about 7:30 o'clock on the night of the crash, had driven her father to the New Oxford Social and Athletic Club and then had driven on Water St. to the Lincoln Highway, had turned left to the New Oxford Square and then south to Pleasant St. where she left her mother with friends and had returned home. At 10 o'clock her father called her and she had met him and the cousin, Clair Overbaugh, at the New Oxford club at about 10:30 o'clock. She said she was tracing the exact route that she had covered three hours earlier, when the crash occurred.

Five character witnesses were called for Miss Overbaugh; Rev. Fr. Louis W. Forgeng, Hanover, former assistant pastor at St. Francis Xavier Catholic Church here; Stanislaus Krichen, McSherrystown; Martin Winters, Hanover shipping clerk; J. T. Kernan, McSherrystown undertaker, and Harry S. Noel, Hanover.

baugh. The court announced that it had been stipulated by both sides in the trial that Mr. Overbaugh was fatally injured June 29 when Miss Overbaugh's car struck an auto operated by Charlotte Aumen, New Oxford R. 1 and owned by William Hull, 22, Hanover R. 3. Death was caused by a fractured skull, according to York County Coroner Lester J. Sell. Mr. Overbaugh was dead on arrival at the Hanover hospital.

The involuntary manslaughter charge was brought as a result of the death, the assault and battery charge was brought as a result of injuries to Miss Aumen and Mr. Hull. District Attorney Daniel E. Teeter told the jury:

Army-Navy Battle Tops Slate Of Traditional Grid Rivalries

By ED WILKS

The Associated Press
Traditional rivalries, seasoned with bowl prospects, popped up all over the place today as college football, except for a few games next week, came to a close for 1954.

Even the big game of the day—the nationally televised natural between Army and Navy at Philadelphia—had a bowl aspect as Sugar Bowl officials insisted they had their eyes on Navy despite a precedent of shunning such invitations at both service academies.

But bowl or no, it still was the Army-Navy game and the winner is the champ of the East.

Sugar Bowl Bid
Elsewhere, Mississippi had a chance to sweep the Southeastern Conference crown and the host-team role in the Sugar Bowl by getting past Mississippi State. Mississippi, with only a loss to Arkansas marring its record this season, had a similar opportunity last year. But Mississippi State punctured the bowl bubble with a 7-7 tie.

Another surprise by State probably would give the Sugar Bowl trip to the winner of the Georgia-Georgia Tech game, another of the tradition packed contests. Even a Mississippi victory probably would shuffle Tech into a bowl Jan. 1 if they win, with the Cotton Bowl a likely prospect.

Duke and North Carolina figured in yet another time-honored game with Duke out for an impressive victory to stay on equal footing with Maryland in the race for the Orange Bowl.

Blue Devils Wary
Duke went into the game in danger of having to stand up to past deeds. Back in 1935 the Blue Devils knocked over North Carolina 25-0, ruining the Tar Heels' Rose Bowl hopes. It made a fine spot for revenge by North Carolina.

Baylor was in a position to receive a New Year's Day invitation, too, by getting past Rice. Success would give the Bears a share of the Southwest Conference title and a chance to get into the Sugar Bowl picture.

The Southwest champion gets one of the Cotton Bowl spots, but while Baylor could match Arkansas 5-1 conference record for a title share, the Razorbacks are in by virtue of a 21-20 victory over the Bears.

Top Teams Idle
Arkansas was up against Houston with a chance to climb back into the top 10 in the Associated Press poll after two defeats that tumbled the Razorbacks to 13th.

Ohio State, the No. 1 team and the Big Ten's Rose Bowl representative, and UCLA, No. 2 and like Ohio State unbeaten but unable to return to the Rose Bowl because of conference rules, completed their seasons last week. That left it for Oklahoma, unbeaten and No. 3, to show its best against Oklahoma A & M to get a chance for the national championship.

The Sooners, also stymied by conference rules for a bowl shot, found their national title hopes may also depend on what went on at South Bend, Ind., where Notre Dame, No. 4, met Southern California. The Irish should have a chance of discrediting UCLA's 34-0 victory over Southern Cal last week.

Former Spitball Pitcher Dies At 63

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP)—William L. Doak, onetime star spitball pitcher, died here yesterday.

His daughter, Mrs. J. O. Smith of Cocoa, visiting for the Thanksgiving holidays, found the 63-year-old sports star dead in a bathtub in his home. Death apparently resulted from a heart attack.

Doak, who pitched 17 years for three National League clubs—Cincinnati, St. Louis and Brooklyn—came here 29 years ago.

NY GIANTS BLOCK BROWNS' PATH TO NFL TITLE SHOT

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Cleveland Browns, on the comeback trail in the National Football League after two early season wallpings by Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, are on the threshold of their fifth straight Eastern Conference title.

There's just a little matter of beating the New York Giants at the Polo Grounds tomorrow. And the Browns, riding a 5-game winning streak, are favored to turn the trick. They whipped the Giants in Cleveland several weeks ago and Coach Paul Brown's lads from the shores of Lake Erie are positive they can do it again.

The game, of course, tops a 5-game NFL Sunday program. The Los Angeles Rams, who knocked off the Giants last week, battle the Chicago Bears in Chicago. San Francisco, tied with Los Angeles for runnerup spot in the Western Conference, is at Baltimore. The Philadelphia Eagles entertain the Washington Redskins and the Pittsburgh Steelers are host to the Chicago Cardinals.

Would Play Lions
Otto Graham and his Cleveland teammates have another reason for wanting to knock over the Giants. Not only would a victory virtually clinch the division title, but it would set up a return title playoff between the Browns and the Detroit Lions.

The Lions, who won the NFL title last year by nipping the Browns 17-16, virtually sewed up the Western Conference crown by beating Green Bay 28-24 on Thanksgiving.

More than 40,000 are expected at the Polo Grounds to see if Charley (Chuck) Conerly and his forward passing can put the Giants back into title contention. The Giants have a 6-3 week-long record compared to Cleveland's 6-2. It is all or nothing for the Giants. Nevertheless the "smart money" betting boys believe the Browns will win.

PRIME MINISTER OF JAPAN MAY CALL ELECTION

TOKYO (AP)—Embattled Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida was reported ready Friday to throw Japan into a general election unless he can either hold office or name his successor as premier.

With the nation's special Diet session only four days away, lines were hardening for an all-out struggle for power among three factions—two conservative and one made up of Socialists.

Beginning the seventh year of an unbroken and unprecedented administration, Yoshida faces the fight of his political life.

For the first time in his long rule his opposition has enough certain votes to topple him with a non-confidence motion in the House.

Yoshida, a fighter, was said by the newspaper Asahi, Japan's biggest, to be ready with House dissolution that will hurl Japan's 467 representatives into a bitter and expensive election campaign.

Will Relinquish Post
Yoshida Friday said he would step down as president of the Liberal party in favor of Deputy Premier Taketora Ogata. The Liberals are still the country's biggest party with 185 members, despite the conservative bolt.

But he was apparently ready to fight for his office—or at least the power to name Ogata as his successor to the premiership.

Yoshida appeared ready to do anything to block his conservative archfoe, 71-year-old Ichiro Hatoyama, from forming a government. Hatoyama, founder of the Liberal party, bolted with his followers for the second time last week and formed the new Japan Democratic party in coalition with the Progressives, led by wartime Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu.

The Socialists were apparently ready to support Hatoyama in the non-confidence maneuvers as a means of bringing down Yoshida,

CADETS FAVORED OVER NAVY TEAM IN TOP FEATURE

By ORLO ROBERTSON

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Army and Navy present the nation's two top offensive teams to more than 100,000 fans in Philadelphia's Municipal Stadium today but it wouldn't be surprising to see this battle of football titans turned into one of defense.

Not since the days when Felix Blanchard and Glenn Davis ran wild for the Cadets has the annual game between the two service academies attracted so much interest. For it has been many a year since both schools came up with such awesome attacks.

The big climactic game always has been a sellout but without being the talk of the gridiron world. However, one would think today was baseball series time in this city of brotherly love.

Game Is Televised

As the game of the week in the NCAA's television program, the game will be carried throughout the country by the American Broadcasting Co. starting at 1:15 p.m.

The weatherman promised afternoon temperatures in the 40's although it'll be cloudy.

For the second straight year, President Eisenhower passed up the game in favor of a round of golf. But the game was not lacking for Army brass and Navy brass. Officials high in Washington's official life, the nation's business and social whirl mingled with the average football fan, who somehow managed to dig up the $6 necessary to gain admission.

There was more scalping of tickets than in many years. Some reported receiving as much as $140 for a pair of 50-line ducats. Another offered and received $40 for a pair of end zone seats.

Navy Bowl Bid

There were strong indications that should Navy win or tie the Middies will accept a bowl bid.

Army officials several times have said they are not interested in a post-season game.

Army was the slight choice (the odds-makers say five points) but there is no obvious reason for this favoritism. The Cadets have won seven straight since dropping their opener to South Carolina. The Middies have a 6-2 record with the losses coming at the hands of Notre Dame, 6-0, and Pittsburgh by the margin of a couple of missed extra points. And but for a goal fumble the Navy might well have tied or beaten Notre Dame.

New High Reached By U.S. Air Force

ST. JOHNS, Nfld. (AP)—The U. S. Air Force says one of its planes has landed and taken off from a 10,300-foot point on the Greenland ice cap. The announcement claimed it was the highest known landing and takeoff in air history.

A report from Sondrestrom Air Base in Greenland last night said the operation, carried out to determine whether search planes could operate from the ice cap, was conducted Thanksgiving Day by a ski-equipped C47 transport.

Eight Meets For Bullet Swimmers

Gettysburg College's varsity swimming team, under the direction of Coach Jim Lentz, will compete in eight meets this year, plus the post-season Middle Atlantic Conference Tournament.

Last season, Lentz's first as coach, the Bullets won seven and lost two for the best record in the school's history. Victories were recorded over Georgetown, Catholic University, Franklin and Marshall, Dickinson and Temple, with triangular-meets wins against Swarthmore and P.M.C. and Dickinson and Franklin and Marshall. Only Delaware and Lehigh were able to top the Orange and Blue.

The 1955 schedule: January 8, F & M, away; 15, Lehigh, away; February 5, Dickinson, home; 9, Swarthmore and P.M.C., home; 12, Delaware, home; 19, Temple, home; 23, Georgetown, home; 26, Dickinson and P & M, Lancaster; March 5, Middle Atlantic (site to be announced).

TEDDY DAVIS WINS SHOT AT SADDLER TITLE

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP)—"I can beat those tall men," said Teddy Davis today. "Get me Saddler and I'll be the new champion."

The puncher from Hartford, Conn., earned a title shot at featherweight champion Sandy Saddler last night by decisively outpointing Philadelphia's Percy Bassett in a 12-rounder at Madison Square Garden.

The NBA handed Saddler an ultimatum Nov. 5 to defend his crown against the Davis-Bassett winner by Dec. 14 or face loss of his title to the victor.

Going To Claim Title

Saddler, however, has a Dec. 10 non-title date with Bobby Woods in Spokane and Charley Johnston, the Harlem slasher's manager, said "we'll wait and see what happens after that one. If Sandy looks okay we'll see about a match in January or February. But they'll have to get up to us."

But Mushky Salow, Davis' manager, trumpeted "If Saddler doesn't fight Davis by Dec. 14, we'll claim he lie. I'm going to the New York commission and post a $1,000 forfeit next Friday."

Davis gave Percy a first class boxing lesson to make it 2-2 in their four meetings. The 31-year-old, pokerfaced Negro outpunched Percy through the first three sizzling rounds, dropped the fourth and fifth, held Percy even in the sixth, and then outdazzled Percy the rest of the way.

BULLETS FOLD AS NBA TEAMS GRAB PLAYERS

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Basketball Assn., a sprawling, 17-team circuit five years ago, was down to eight clubs today with the financially flimsy Baltimore Bullets sitting out the rest of the 1954-55 season.

NBA governors consented to the Bullets' request to suspend operations in a special meeting yesterday, but gave the Baltimore outfit an option to return to the league next season if it proves itself economically sound at that time.

The decision to grant the request of Frank Knox, executive vice-president of the Baltimore club, is effective immediately, although the NBA won't officially sanction the action until a thorough study of all legal aspects is completed this weekend.

Hawks Get Selvy

Under the agreement the Bullets' players were distributed around the league following a regular draft pattern. The choices included: Rochester, Don Henricksen; New York, Paul Hoffman and Herman Hedderick; Boston, Bob Houbregs and Ed Miller (Miller is on the suspended list); Syracuse, Connie Simmons; Fort Wayne, Al Rogers; Minneapolis, Bob Leonard; Philadelphia, Ken Murray; Milwaukee, Frank Selvy.

Trabert Advances In Victorian Play

MELBOURNE (AP)—Tony Trabert, American Davis Cupper from Cincinnati, advanced to the quarter-finals of the Victorian Tennis Championships today by whipping Ashley Cooper 6-4, 6-4, 10-8.

Two other Americans also advanced.

Vic Seixas crushed Neale Fraser, Australian left-hander, 8-6, 6-1, 8-6 and Ham Richardson whipped George Worthington, Australia, 6-2, 2-6, 6-3.

SHEPPARD JURY FOLLOWS TRAIL OF BLOOD SPOTS

CLEVELAND (AP)—Where will the trail of blood spots through the house of Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard lead the jury trying him on a charge of wife-killing?

For two trial days the jury has been following that trail of more than 80 spots scattered through the Bay Village house where Marilyn Sheppard, 31, died last July 4, her head punctured by a furious beating with a weapon police said they never found.

And the jurors will take up the trail again Monday—perhaps for another two days—and will hear at least one other expert witness of the state, in addition to Detective Henry Dombrowski who was on the stand all day yesterday and most of Wednesday morning.

Miss Mary Cowan, 47, a laboratory technician in the coroner's office nearly 15 years, is scheduled to lead the way along the blood trail when Dombrowski steps down as guide.

So far Dombrowski has established that only one of the more than 80 spots was human blood. That was a spot no bigger than the head of a tack—a spot cut out of the third step from the bottom of the basement steps at the Sheppard home.

What Dombrowski's testimony in the first-degree murder trial has implied thus far is that the slayer of Marilyn Sheppard wandered about in nearly all parts of the lakefront home, dripping blood, and went to places such as the basement and garage where a prowler or burglar would not likely go.

The defendant has said a

Six Being Considered For Cotton Bowl Bid

DALLAS (AP)—Along about sundown today the team to play Arkansas in the Cotton Bowl is expected to be chosen.

There is absolutely no hint as to which of a half-dozen teams under consideration has the edge but it's pretty well established that the visiting eleven for the Jan. 1 post-season game in Dallas will come from Auburn, Georgia Tech, Mississippi, West Virginia, Penn State and Florida.

The selection committee pointed to the fact that four of those have games today, thus the wait in picking the one to contest Arkansas, which is a clinch tie for the Southwest Conference championship.

YANK-BIRD DEAL STILL BOILING

BALTIMORE (AP)—Like Topsy, that mammoth deal the New York Yankees and Baltimore Orioles pulled off last week just grow'd and grow'd today with reports it would involve 17 or 18 players before it is completed.

Eyebrows were raised throughout the major leagues when the Yanks and Birds announced last week that pitchers Bob Turley and Don Larsen, and shortstop Billy Hunter—three of the Orioles most promising players, had been traded to New York for nine players, including outfielders Gene Woodling, shortstop Willie Miranda, first baseman Gus Triandos, catcher Hal Smith and pitchers Harry Byrd and Jim McDonald.

Yesterday, Hal Lebovitz, Cleveland baseball writer, named the other three who he said would soon be sent to Baltimore, as third baseman Hal Segrist, pitcher Bill Miller and second baseman Don Leppert.

No Confirmation
Oriole President Clarence W. Miles and Manager-General Manager Paul Richards refused to comment. So did the Yankee brass. One New York spokesman said he would neither deny nor confirm the identity of the three and he added the deal had not been completed yet and would not be "for several more days."

That lent credence to a report last night by Lou Hatter, Baltimore Sun baseball writer, that not only would the three Yanks soon be on their way here, but that "five or possibly six" Birds would soon be wearing Yankee uniforms or those of Yankee farm clubs.

Hatter said the five, "or more likely six" Orioles still to go to New York, would come from a group of Orioles that includes pitchers Lou Kretlow, Mike Blyzka, and Frank Fanovich, catcher Ray Murray, catcher Darrell Johnson, first baseman Dick Kryhoski, and outfielder Jim Frideley.

Injuries Sheppard said he received will be the subject of other testimony scheduled for Monday. Dr. E. Three returning members of last year's varsity squad will form the nucleus for Coach Dick Allison's Biglerville High School basketball team this season.

The veterans remaining are Nevin Frantz, forward; Frank Cline and John Day, both guards. All are seniors.

A 21-game schedule has been arranged for the Cannons and eight games for the girls' squad. The boys open their season next Friday at Shippensburg.

Coach Allison and his assistant, Frank Soloski, have been working with a 15-man squad. Several members of the football squad reported for the first time this week while other members have been working out for several weeks.

Among the leading candidates, exclusive of the lettermen, are Ronald Group, Garnet Coble, Larry Hoke, Ronald Koonitz and Rodney Miller, all juniors.

Other hopefuls include: Seniors, Dick Beamer, Dave Slaybaugh, Bill Sheaffer, Mack Albright; Juniors, William Rice, Larry Peters, Keith Wolf, Ray Swartz, Fred Ankney and Robert Ditzler, and freshman

Winter Is Time To Put Curb On Car's Controls, Capabilities

By FREDERICK C. RUSSELL
The wise driver is the one who has discovered he isn't.

Safety in Curb
We are now definitely in the season when one of the most important safety rules a driver is to put a limit on the degree to which he uses the car's controls and capabilities. It is no time for performance. By curbing the car's power we can save some new variations of power skidding. By using power steering wisely we can take advantage of its special advantages without spurring the possibility of a steering skid. Obviously braking power should be cut way down.

Far less power is needed for the car's various operations in winter because speeds should be cut down anyway. By especially careful not to kick down on the accelerator when the road surface is slippery. On a car which I owned 20 years ago there was a special control on the instrument panel to cut down power braking to a minimum. There is no such provision with modern power braking. Power steering can be a real lifesaver if the car's right front wheel goes into deep snow on the shoulder of the road, but don't spoil this fine feature by trying to go around a slippery turn too fast. If the front tires fail to get traction the car will simply slide a straight ahead and off the road.

Power Steering Noisy?
Among the newer conditions to check in modern cars is noise in the power steering equipment. This one, however, is reasonably simple because it usually involves re-checking the hose lines for the fluid. Hoses should not touch each other at any point of their travel. In one case we found that there was not sufficient hose length to allow for the extra travel of the engine due to the latter's loose mountings.

Keeping Brakes Dry
For those who drive cars which have brakes easily affected by water the trick is to hold the brake pedal down with light foot pressure whenever going through a flooded area. This will prevent water from getting between the linings and the drums. Use the brakes more often under such adverse driving conditions. It is also well to have brake dust removed from the drums occasionally. Even though I have not driven a car for many years with such braking weakness I always test the brakes frequently when driving in the rain.

Mechanic Joe Speaking:
"While I don't advise my customers to take their cars on a long trip immediately after coming in here for servicing I do urge them to give their cars good workout on the open road but keeping fairly close to home. If any further adjustments or checks are needed this can be more conveniently arranged, but unless cars are treated to more of the road travel type of operation they may develop sticky valves, crankcase dilution and the various other ills that go with too limited use or too much round-town driving.

"In the shop the engine especially is inefficiently operated. It may be cranked a number of times. It seldom warms up. After this it needs a bit of recuperation which in the case of an engine means good normal operation on the road."

Keeping A Close Watch
Whether or not the odometer on your car carries mileage for trips at least keep a check on the distance the car travels after you have filled up the gas tank. It is good insurance against being stranded if the gas gauge happens to have little regard for the truth. Allow 10 to 15 miles per gallon, depending on the car, and when it is obvious that the tank needs refilling stop for a check-up even if the gas gauge still is registering a different story. Another advantage is the closer check you have on the engine's condition, and your driving.

Those of you have had trouble with carburetor flooding probably feel that the float is the most troublesome part of this hard working part of the engine. In a recent survey of fleets of cars, however, the mechanism for accelerating the engine headed the list of carburetor parts giving the most trouble. Topping the list was trouble with the jets, and though it may be hard to believe the choke was way down the list. A point that carries a handy message for us is the belief expressed by many of those consulted that trouble can be materially cut by keeping the carburetor clean. This means checking the fuel pump's filter and the strainer in the carburetor's inlet. It means servicing the air cleaner regularly.

Now in Deluxe Edition
For those who would like to have a hard cover edition of my CAR CARE book, for the motor library or as a gift to a fellow motorist, I am glad to report that bookstores now carry an attractive version of the book at an equally attractive $2 price tag. This is the third edition of the book and it has been revised in keeping with changes in cars, and includes over 300 photos and illustrations. Arco Publishing Company of New York has some interesting plans for putting this book into the hands of thousands of motorists who have never seen the paper cover Fawcett editions which are selling currently at news stands. I am glad to report that they have included those 19 important pages on tips to the driver known as Seeds of Safety. My friends in the service business tell me that they see ample evidence to support the belief that the safely driven car runs better and costs less to operate.

Removes Bug Splash
We live and learn, as they say, and one of the things that has only recently come to light is the use of a mild solution of baking soda for removing squashed bugs from the front of the car. Most owners have been using tar remover which, while effective, does dissolve the wax preservative coating so that the affected areas usually have to be re-waxed. I understand that one of the car manufacturers recommended this use of soda some seven years ago, but the advice apparently got lost in the general excitement.

Lights As A Guide
The lights can be a clue to car troubles but are seldom thought of in that connection. If they go dim while using the starting motor, for instance, it indicates a poor condition between the battery and starting motor, assuming that the battery is up to par. Furthermore, his trouble will usually be found at the battery terminals themselves. Dim lights may indicate a weak battery or trouble with the starter or, in the case of an engine that has just been overhauled, too tight rings. Dim lights during cranking if the engine is quite hot may hint of varnish on the pistons and cylinder walls.

It's a case of who's afraid of the big bad space man in this view of Macy's annual Thanksgiving Day parade on Broadway, New York. (AP Wirephoto)

What's Your Trouble?
Q. The brakes on my car have not been satisfactory since the master cylinder was replaced. Each morning the pedal goes to the floor, although I can get braking by pumping on it. New brake fluid was used. R. H. F.
A. I would have them recheck the brake pedal push rod where it enters the master cylinder.

Q. There has been persistent overheating all autumn, and I fear that I will be losing anti-freeze during the winter. Most of the usual checks have been made. The trouble is largely when the engine is idling while the car is in a traffic jam. F. L. M.

A. The fan bearing may be cramped from having the belt too tight. Or the fan blades themselves may not have sufficient pitch.

Q. What is the best way to lubricate the bows and other parts of the convertible top when squeaking has developed. J. L.
A. Go easy with this because lubricant will likely mar the interior of the top. A very little of what is known as rubber lubricant would be best because it doesn't soil as readily as graphite or petroleum lubricants.

Q. There is a bad shimmy in my car at higher speeds. They have gone over the front-end alignment, shock absorbers, tires, and so forth. Motor mounts and the universal joints are all right. M. V.

A. In a case like this better check the coil springs at the front of the car. They may be weak.

Q. There is considerable shock when I place the transmission selector lever in the reverse position to back the car out of the garage in the morning. This doesn't seem to happen if I back up the car after Fluid level has been checked. R. F. McM.
A. While the transmission may need some checking I think that the main difficulty here is that the engine is fast idling too long. After a minute of running press down on the accelerator for a moment to see if the idling drops back to normal as it should.

Q. I have been troubled with loss of anti-freeze somewhere around the bottom of the car although I fail to find any evidence of coolant escaping from the radiator housing, engine head or block. Wm. K.
A. The torque converter on your car is water cooled. I believe you will find that the hose to the converter is in need of attention.

Q. What would cause the engine to stall several times on my way to work? Other times it runs normally. D. K. B.
A. Here we are in the throttle icing season again. Best way to overcome this is to let the engine start idle in the driveway before starting out. There is a sort of refrigeration action of the gases passing over the cold throttle plate when it is closed to the idling position. It stops as soon as the throttle warms up.

Mr. Russell will answer questions regarding the safe care and operation of your car. Just address him at 254 Fern St., West Hartford 7, Conn., and enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope for a personal reply. There is no charge.

BUY $19,698 PAINTING
LONDON (AP)—The Tate Gallery Friday paid $19,698 for a portrait by French artist Henri Matisse, who died this month.

The portrait is of the late Andre Derain, another great modern French painter, and one of

The portrait was from the collection of the late W. Rees Jeffreys and was sold at auction.

Jailing Yanks May Stir Resentment

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP)—The imprisonment of the 13 Americans by the Chinese Communists was a blessing, in a way, because "now public opinion and government reaction is on our side."

That was the statement on Thanksgiving Day of Mrs. Alice I. Moore of Lancaster, Pa., sister of one of the 13 men—Maj. William H. Baumer, 32, of Lewisburg, Pa.

Mrs. Moore said Thursday that in the past when she and her mother, Mrs. H. L. Baumer, Lewisburg, tried to stir up some U.S. Government action on her brother's behalf "it was like beating our heads against a stone wall."

"Now, since the sentencing," she added, "public opinion and government reaction is on our side. It's an ill wind that did blow somebody else's way."

The 13 Americans were sent to prison by the Chinese Communists as "spies."

See Decline In Nation's Jobless

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Labor Department says it expects fewer persons to be unemployed during the balance of 1954, but it foresees some seasonal lag in employment early next year.

The department said on Thursday its latest survey of manpower conditions and employment prospects shows that the number of jobless has been declining at a rate greater than normal for this time of year.

However, it said increased unemployment would be normal after the first of the year because of winter curtailment in construction and other outdoor activities.

STEAL $92,000 IN JEWELRY

WEST ORANGE, N.J. (AP)—Police Friday night reported the theft of $92,000 in jewelry from the home of wealthy manufacturer Anthony DeSiderio.

The loot, police said, was taken from a small wall safe in a bedroom closet by thieves who may have telephoned the home before they broke in through a window.

The theft first became known through a 1-state alarm sent out yesterday by West Orange police but actually was committed last Friday night. Details of the crime were withheld at first by local officials.

DeSiderio and his family had been out of the 15-room house when the thieves forced a window on a rear porch.

The wall safe along was disturbed in the big house. It was torn from the wall and chiseled open. Some 37 pieces of stolen jewelry were listed in the police alarm. Some were valued at as high as $15,000 each. In addition, $500 to $1,000 in cash was reported taken.

DeSiderio is on of seven brothers associated in the ownership and operation of four paper board manufacturing plants in Whippany and Clifton, N.J., and Durham, Pa.

LEADERS WILL REMAIN IN YORK UNTIL JUNE

YORK, Pa. (AP)—Gov.-elect George M. Leader and his wife said Friday they probably will continue living at their Dover residence until June. That's when the school year will end for their 9-year-old son who attends grammar school near here.

"We are now working on the assumption that we won't leave our home to take up any state residence until at least after the current school term ends," Mrs. Leader told a newsman.

Also figuring into the school plans is a 5-year-old son attending kindergarten. The third child is a 9-month-old daughter.

"We would like to see the children finish out this year at school without having to transfer them in the middle of the term," the future First Lady explained.

Need Larger Home

She said that after June "I guess we will have to move into state residence."

"Our home here is a nice, but modest one, and not near large enough to accommodate the staff assigned to a governor to handle certain affairs," she added.

The 36-year-old Democratic governor and his wife will be eligible to take up residence in either of two state mansions after his Jan. 18 inauguration.

The old Executive Mansion is located along the Susquehanna River near downtown Harrisburg. A "summer mansion" at Indiantown Gap had been the residence of Gov. James H. Duff (now a U.S. senator) and now is the living quarters of Gov. John S. Fine.

Both Fine and Duff have used the downtown mansion only for formal state functions.

Although neither specifically named which state residence the family would occupy, the Leaders hinted it would be the sprawling limestone mansion at the Gap.

"Our children are accustomed to being out in the open and running around in dungarees," the governor said.

Mrs. Leader said she prefers "the open spaces" in which to live.

The governor-elect has set up headquarters in the state Democratic Committee Building in Harrisburg and said he probably will commute the 25 miles between his home and there daily at least until he takes office.

CHINESE REDS STORM ISLAND NEAR FORMOSA; ARE DRIVEN OFF

By SPENCER MOOSA

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—Chinese Reds stormed a tiny Chinese Nationalist island in Formosa Strait Friday but were driven off after an hour's heavy fighting, the Nationalist Defense Ministry reported.

The ministry said many Communist soldiers were captured. It was not clear whether the attack on Wuchui Island was intended as an invasion, a hit-and-run raid or an effort to see what the U.S. 7th Fleet might do.

10 Gunboats Cover

Press reports said the Reds stormed ashore from motorized junks under cover of shellfire from 10 gunboats. Nationalist warplanes raced to the island and helped drive the invaders back into the sea.

Wuchui is a guerrilla base only a mile long and half a mile wide. It is 15 miles from the mainland and 10 miles south of Red-held Nanjin Island. It is 63 miles northeast of Quemoy and 66 miles southeast of Fochow, capital of Fukien province.

The 7th Fleet has been patrolling the Formosa Strait since June 27, 1950, just after the outbreak of the Korean War. Its assigned task is to protect Formosa and the Pes-

I'm still not going to be very fond of leaving our home here in Dover," Mrs. Leader admitted.

The Leader home is a stone structure built along Colonial lines and surrounded by farmland.

Mummasburg

MUMMASBURG — PFC Delroy Rinehart who has been stationed at Camp McPherson, Atlanta, Georgia, arrived home Sunday to spend a 20-day furlough at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Rinehart, and family. He traveled by plane from Atlanta to Washington, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hall and children, Cynthia and Gerald, Chambersburg, were Sunday visitors at the home of Mrs. Hall's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jere Keefe.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Hartman and daughter, Helen, and Mrs. Minnie Houck visited friends near Mercersburg, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. David Matthews have gone to South Carolina where they are now making their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Cullison and children were recent visitors in Hanover. They were accompanied by Mrs. Cullison's mother, Mrs. Bessie Riddle, Hanover, who had been a visitor in the Cullison home.

cadres from invasion. U.S. policy has been to keep the Reds guessing about what the fleet might do if one of the many offshore Nationalist outposts was threatened.

Not Asking Help Yet

There was no indication that the fleet was needed today, or that the Nationalists asked for its help.

President Chiang Kai-shek told interviewers just the other day that if the United States openly committed itself to defend the offshore islands, the Reds would not dare attack them.

Press reports said the defenders of Wuchui recoiled under the initial attack, then counterattacked and with the support of Formosa-based warplanes erased the Communist bridgehead. They also said Nationalist warships went into action immediately, but their role was not reported.

ACCUSE MAN OF TRYING TO DERAIL TRAIN

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The FBI has charged Clarence Irvin Mayberry Jr. with trying, on two occasions, to derail a Reading Co. train.

Mayberry, 28, of Pottstown, Pa., was ordered held by U.S. Commissioner Henry P. Carr in $5,000 bail yesterday. Carr was told Reading Co. police arrested Mayberry Wednesday night as he walked along the railroad tracks in Pottstown.

Federal law sets the maximum penalty for the crime at 20 years imprisonment or a $10,000 fine or both.

McCabe quoted Mayberry as saying he put the first obstruction, a three-foot long piece of timber, on the tracks on Oct. 20 because fellow workers teased him.

The second piece of material, a channel iron, was placed on the tracks on Oct. 26. McCabe quoted Mayberry as saying he "had pressure on his mind from unpaid bills."

The trains were not derailed. They hit the obstacles near the Pottstown plant of the Bethlehem Steel Co., where Mayberry worked in the assembly shop.

Add finely cut raisins to steamed rice and serve with curried lamb or chicken. Be sure to wash the raisins well in boiling water before using; this trick makes them pleasantly plump.
